The Pittsburgh Gazette.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1866.

On Tuesday the Republicans of Dauphin country declared in favor of Mr. John B. Packer, of Northumberland, as the candidate for Congress. This settles the contest in his favor, against Mr. Miller, the present incumbent, and against Colonel Patterson, who wanted the place. It has seemed to us that no reason existed for setting Mr. Miller aside, but that course has been taken. The compensation is that his successor is a competent and worthy man.

We are happily disappointed in the manner in which the nomination of Mr. D. A. Finney is regarded throughout the Crawford District. We apprehended that so obstinanate and protracted a contest would leave ruptures that could not be readily healed, and that apathy or opposition on the part of some sections of the Republican party might leave the result in doubt. Such, we are glad to know, is not likely to be the consequence. The feeling appears to be prevalent that certain cardinal principles are paramount to all personal prejudices and interests, and that it will not do, especially in a momentous crisis like the present, to sacrifice the cause for individual relations and revenges. We have now no question whatever of Mr. Finney's triumphant election.

Our attention has been called to a portion of the prophecies of Daniel, says the Harrisburg Telegraph, as foreshadowing, thousands of years ago, the faithlessness destined to interfere for a time with the final triumph of free government and principles of equality among men on earth. Since the President has impiously telegraphically asserted that the finger of Providence was discernible in the deliberations of the Rebel-Johnsonites at Philadelphia, it is only right to inform him that one of God's servants drew Andy Accidency's character most graphically, and foretells his doom surely, in the following prediction. We quote from Daniel 8 : 23, 24 and 25 :

"And his power shall be mighty, but not by his own power; and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper, and practice, and shall destroy the mighty and the holy people.

"And through his policy, also, he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand; and he shall magnify himself in his heart, and by peace shall destroy many; he shall also stand up against the Prince of princes, but he shall be broken without hand."

The Democrats faithfully opposed the war for the Union and did all that was possible for them to do to strengthen the hands of the rebels. They threw obstacles in the way of our soldiers; sought to prevent voluntary enlistments into our armies, and advised violent resistance to the Government when it was necessary to sustain the brave boys in blue, by prompt reinforcements through conscription. They did all this, and even more, during the bitter hour of our country's trial. To-day they occupy a position they have never abandoned. They are still enemies to their country, willing to sacrifice everything in order that they be reinstated in power. Hammering away for five or six long years they have at length pealed a chip from the Republican block, and are rejoicing at the prodigious feat they have accomplished. In doing this they forget that they have sunk their own organization, and are made an appendage to a handful of petty politicians who thirsted for power and popularity which they never could have obtained in the Republican ranks. The Democrats are welcome to their victory. They have cleared the Union party of its worthless members, and have taken to their bosom an element which will eventually work mischief and destruction to themselves.

Major General D. B. Kiddoo (of this city), now stationed at Galveston, Texas, has made a report upon the condition of Freedmen's Bureau affairs in that State, to Major General O. O. Howard, Commissioner. After speaking of the favorable condition of the crops, and other matters pertaining to agriculture, he says :

"The greatest trouble I have in the administration of the affairs of the Bureau of this State consists in protecting the freedmen from lawless violence. Murder and outrage are largely on the increase. Every mail from the interior brings me reports from my agents and other trustworthy sources of information, of murders, from one to five at a time, of negroes. I am left powerless to give proper protection, for want of troops to sustain my agents and make arrests, that I grow sick at heart, and wonder at the war power of the Government leaving this unfortunate class of people, whom it liberated by force, thus exposed to the violence of a chagrined and life long enemy. The only remedy I can suggest is army officers for agents, and troops to sustain them. If in your judgment it is the settled policy of the Executive to leave the Bureau without adequate military protection, I will desire making these official appeals; but until I am thus informed, I must continue to plead for such force as will make my duties here a reality instead of a farce. The appropriation bill authorizes the payment of citizen agents now, but I cannot find any who are competent and who can take the oath required. I am now looking for ex-United States army officers, and have found two very good ones. Gen. Wright gives me all the officers he thinks he can spare, but my State is large and the requirements are great.

I will be glad if you will give me advantage of the fourth section of the act pertaining to the Bureau, which authorizes the retention of officers of volunteers. At present, from the condition of my wounds, I am unfit for other duty. Having become to some decree acclimated and much interested in my present duties, I would be glad to be retained."

A correspondent writing from Hollidaysburg, Blair county, Pa., says :

A very large and enthusiastic meeting of the Union Republicans of this county was held in the Court House on the 20th inst. The crowd was too large for the room. Hon. L. W. Hall, of the Senate spoke about an hour and a half; his argument was forcible and conclusive and made an excellent impression. The fire is burning in "Little Blair." Hon. S. Calvin followed Mr. Hall. The speech of the latter was one of the great speeches of the campaign, and will tell on our voters in the coming election.

—The Citizen says: Gen. Grant said one day last week in conversation with a friend, that it is a perfectly useless expense for England to keep a Minister at Washington while Seward remains our Secretaey of State. Seward is a better servant of England than any direct English agent could be. He has no other ambition than to serve her interests, and perverts all the powers of his position to this end.

—A young man in St. Paul, named Hawks, who belonged in Illinois, accidentally shot and killed his young wife as she was cleaning his gun for a hunt. The parties were only recently married, and had been enjoying a wedding tour through Minnesota. Hawk is wild with grief and tries to commit suicide.

—Mr. Burns, of Worcester, and Mr. Kettles, of Shell River, are to telegraph against each other for the championship of New England, on the 29th.

A Brief Dialogue between Common Sense and a Dyspeptic.

Common Sense.—Is it possible for any human being to enjoy life while suffering from indigestion.

Dyspeptic.—No more than it is possible to be happy on the rack. I speak from experience.

Common Sense.—Suppose, then, that a remedy for this terrible complaint is offered, under the guarantee of hundreds of individuals of high social standing, who have tested the effect of the article in their own cases, is it not unwise in any one afflicted with the disease to neglect giving it a trial?

Dyspeptic.—Unquestionably. I admit the premises. What is the deduction?

Common Sense.—Give heed. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is such a remedy. The evidence of its efficacy as a cure for dyspepsia is positive, complete, undenied and undeniable. Have you ever ascertained by experiment whether it is or is not the infallible cure that it is claimed to be?

Dyspeptic.—I confess that I have not.

Common Sense.—Then you stand convicted of folly by your own showing. If the same strong proofs that have been advanced in favor of this great tonic had been submitted to you with regard to any business speculation, you would have gone into it at once. Is health of less importance than the dollars and cents which no man can enjoy without it?

Dyspeptic.—No, no, no—a thousand times no. Common Sense you are right. I will give the Bitters a trial.

Common Sense.—Do so, and I shall never more have any cause to address you as a dyspeptic.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That the paramount issues and to be issue that absorb all others at the present time, is the immediate admission of all the States to the exercise of all their rights under the Constitution, especially the right of representation in Congress.

Secretary McCulloch's Financial Views—Bankers and Manufacturers.

New York, August 23.—In response to an invitation to attend a dinner of financiers and others in Boston, Secretary McCulloch sent a letter declining the courtesy with the following remarks:

Although it was hoped that ere this the currency of the country would have been brought nearer to the specie standard, I am sure that the people have cause for congratulation that their finances are in no worse condition than they are. Since March, 1865, the war has been brought to a successful conclusion; immense armies have been disbanded; every soldier has been before being mustered out of service; all maturing obligations of the Government have been satisfactorily provided for, while the national debt is nearly $500,000,000 less than it was estimated it would be at the present time, and the reduction of it has averaged for the past year more than $10,000,000 per month. If no other nation ever rolled up a debt so large, none ever more rapidly commenced the reduction of its debt so soon after its creation. If our currency is depreciated, we have so far escaped the financial troubles that usually accompany the disbandment of expensive wars, and which there was reason to apprehend would happen to us at the termination of the gigantic struggle in which we have been engaged. If the business of the country is conducted upon a changing and uncertain basis, it has been subjected to no severe pressure. Instead of our true and natural resources are almost unlimited, while the disposition of the people to bear cheerfully their burdens, is a surprise even to those who have the greatest confidence in the honesty and the faith of a free people. In my opinion the people of the United States are ready to make republicanism illustrious among nations by establishing the fact that the perities of a republican government are the safest of all securities, and that the people who impose taxes upon themselves are most fearless of honest creditors. The people will never, however, disguise the fact that great financial difficulties are still to be overcome, that our present prosperity is rather apparent than real, that we are living in a time of inflated prices, that we are in fact exposed to all the dangers which attend an inflated and redeemable currency which demoralizes more than any other source of national wealth, encourages speculation and extravagance which lead to thriftlessness and demoralization. Before the country becomes again really prosperous the specie standard must be reached, gold produced, industry stimulated, the products of the country increased, and the balance of trade between the United States and foreign nations cease to be against us; all the great interests of the country cared for and protected by wise and impartial legislation, and all sections of the country be brought again to harmonious and patriotic action in the general government. That the country will thus be really prosperous, is as certain as anything in future. That it should be so at an early day, and that, for the honor of the National Government, it is only necessary that there be proper legislation in Congress, and economy in public expenditures in the city and the part of those who are entrusted with the management of the revenue.

Trusting that you will pardon me for writing so long a letter in response to the receipt of your very courteous invitation, I remain, very truly, your obedient servant,

(Signed,) Hugh McCulloch.

Secretary of the Treasury.

Messrs. William Gray, Nathaniel Thayer, Thomas B. Wales, B. W. Thaly, and others, Boston, Mass.

Gallantry Requited—Seeing the Sights and What Came of It.

Adam Bowers resides in Wheeling—that is when he is at home, where he earnestly wished to be when we met him yesterday, in the Mayor's office, Allegheny city, with a face indicative of great mental suffering, if one could be judged from the tattles about the mouth and the great glistening tears that coursed down his ruddy cheeks and were taken into his capacious mouth by an unusual long tongue, that at brief intervals went out in search of the tokens of grief, as if desirous that Adam and they should not part company as unceremoniously. Moved to pity, we enquired what was the matter, when he, individual, with a fresh outburst of tears, gave us to understand that he had a tale to unfold, which at our request he did unfold in the following manner: Having by careful industry and prudential economy succeeded in amassing four hundred dollars, he started for this city on Tuesday, in the hope of entering into wedlock with one of the fairest and fondest of the fair daughters of the free people. In my opinion the people of the United States are to make republicanism illustrious among nations by establishing the fact that the perities of a republican government are the safest of all securities, and that the people who impose taxes upon themselves are most fearless of honest creditors. The Murphy Murder—The Officers of the Chieftain Exculpated—Verdict of the Coroner's Jury.

Yesterday afternoon, at the Mayor's Office, Coroner Clawson concluded the inquest held upon the body of Harrison Murphy who was killed by a blow on the head from John Willich, on Wednesday of last week, on board the steamer "Chieftain."

Before publishing the evidence, it may be well to observe that the unfortunate man Murphy was by no means ill-y treated by the officers of the boat, but as he was thought to have been very much intoxicated, he did not receive the attention his condition warranted. So soon as the Captain and Clerks of the boat realized that he was in a dying condition, they did all in their power for the man. Indeed, at no time was he neglected or roughly handled by any one connected with the boat. Captain Abrams had threatened to put off the boat Willich and Robinson, but as they promised to keep quiet he permitted them to go to the back part of the vessel and consented to their remaining on board. It was during his absence from the cabin that the fight occurred which resulted so fatally to Murphy. We know the officers of the boat to be careful, humane, faithful and attentive, and as we listened to all of the testimony taken before the Coroner's Jury, we feel it to be our duty to fully exonerate them from the suspicion of not properly caring for the murdered man after he had received his injuries.

Conclusion of the testimony.

Capt. R. R. Abrams, sworn—Am captain of the Chieftain; was on the boat on the night of the fuss; was sitting in the cabin when I was told by one of the hands of the boat that there was a disturbance in the wash house among some men; went into the wash house and saw Willich, Robinson and Murphy. They were all apparently under the influence of liquor and were in a quarrel; Robinson was the most noisy; took him out and Willich followed; when I got to the guards I told them they must either keep quiet or I would put them ashore; Robinson said he did not like to go ashore, but Willich said he was willing. Robinson said he was generally that way when drinking; told him he better go to bed or he would be put ashore; Robinson went to the forepart of the boat; I then proceeded to attend to my duties on board of the boat. We had much difficulty in getting our freight out that night over the wash wall, and it took us until two o'clock getting through. In the course of a half an hour or an hour, I heard another disturbance in the wash house; went in and found Robinson and Willich standing there, while Murphy was sitting on the floor with his legs spread out and his head leaning over, and he was bleeding slightly at the nose; there were persons standing around, several of them appeared to be Murphy's friends; they told me he had been struck by Willich and knocked down; I asked Murphy if he was hurt and he replied that he was, when somebody said that he was drunk and would be all right directly; this was in lock No. 2; about eleven o'clock or near midnight; Willich and Robinson left together then; I went on attending to my business afterwards, supposing that Murphy was drunk and that his friends would attend him; they appeared that night as before mentioned among the fellows to have a fight. I went to bed and did not get up till between eight and nine o'clock. My clerk told me then that a physician had been on board and examined Murphy who was in the deck hand's berth and had said that there was nothing the matter with him save that he was drunk. Dr. Thaler had been on board and when he came I accompanied him to the man and the Doctor said Murphy was dangerously hurt. I asked the Doctor if he had not better be taken to the hospital. He said that he should, and volunteered to furnish the permit. A conveyance was immediately sent for and Murphy was started to the hospital.

R. G. Mason sworn—Am clerk of the Chieftain. At about half past six o'clock on Thursday morning I got up and found Murphy laying upon the floor near the wash-house, dressed; that his head was bleeding; I called two or three of the deck-hands and had him removed to the wharf-boat; placed a pile of sacks under his head and left him there to sit up with him; went to the bar, but first examined him and could not discover any marks upon him. After awhile some of the parties spoke of the fuss and the difficulty of the night before, and thought he had been injured. I was going to send for a doctor when some one said that Murphy was only drunk as he got that way when he left his home. I left him in charge of the boat hands and thought that there was more than drunkenness the matter with him; sent for a Doctor who soon came. The Doctor said that Murphy was dying and there was much the matter with him. I then left, attending to my business, and upon returning found Dr. Thaler and Captain Abrams with him.

John Baker, colored, Sworn.—Am second steward on board Chieftain; was in the barber shop that night; Willich was in a chair and Murphy was standing by him; they were quarreling about a rat; Willich jumped up and struck Murphy twice in the face about the head. Willich then went back and sat in the chair; Murphy then struck Willich; Willich got up and struck him twice; the second time Murphy fell and after he was down Willich stamped him twice; once in the breast, the other in the head. Willich was then put out of the room; Murphy could have kicked him in the head when he was down. Willich was the only man in the fight I reside at Brownsville, Pa.

The evidence here rested, and the jury returned a verdict that the deceased, Harrison Murphy, came to his death from violent blows received on the head from John Willich, on Wednesday night, August 15th, 1866, on board of the steamer Chieftain, near Port Perry, on the Monongahela river.

Improvements in the Relief Engine House.

The Relief Engine House, situate on Pennsylvania avenue, is undergoing a number of repairs. A stable is to be attached to the rear, with a capacity for accommodating four horses, with a loft sufficient to hold several tons of hay. The second floor, of the house itself, is being fitted up in a sumptous manner as a reception room. The floor will be covered with a bright pattern of English origrain, and the walls with French glazed paper. The windows will be draped in white, and will consist of four centre tables with damask covers, two dozen cushioned chairs and three elegant sofas, while at either extremity of the room will be a large gilt mirror which will reflect the many beauties of the apartment. The windows will be draped in white brocade, through which the light will come, softened as it is. In the centre of the ceiling already depends a large chandelier, with eight gas jets, surrounded by frosted globes, which will suffice to illuminate the room in the most splendid manner. It is a third story is being furnished for a sleeping apartment, or bunk room for the company, or any of their guests who may see fit to remain over night. The floor will be covered with fine matting. The wash are already tastefully frescoed, and a handsome book case filled with choice literature, which will be contributed by the boys from the three front windows can look in upon it, revealing shakespeare in calf, sandwiched between Lamb and Escott. The committee who have charge of the repairs have finished their work, the Relief Company will be in possession of one of the finest houses in this, or any other city.

Arrest of a Fugitive.—Officers Bushand and Barry yesterday arrested a man by the name of Abraham Thatcher, at the Express office, under the following circumstances. The Mayor received a telegraph dispatch from Altoona, requesting the arrest of Thatcher as he arrived on the eastern train, and further stated that he would have in his possession a trunk marked H. Hill, Pittsburgh. The trunk being in the possession of the Express Company, the officers waited until Thatcher came forward and claimed it. He was then taken into custody. He was placed in the lock-up to await the arrival of an officer.

The Pittsburgh Gift Concert.—A Cincinnati correspondent writes us as follows:

"I think if Messrs. McDonald & Thompson, proprietors of the 'Grand Gift Concert,' would advertise in your columns what they are doing, and what they intend to do, it will be no more than is similar to the Chicago lottery, it would interest your readers, and especially the ticket holders."

We would be glad to be able to gratify the curiosity of our friend. A like hunger and thirst is felt by many hereabouts.

Not Satisfied.—A week or two since, Mr. James M'Knight instituted suit against Mrs. Bosworth for unlawfully detaining a watch which she had found, and which Mr. M'Knight claims as his property. The case having been instituted before Mayor Wilson, Mr. M'Knight expressed himself as being dissatisfied with the decision, and has entered suit against Mrs. B. and her husband before Alderman Strain. The case will come up for a hearing next Saturday.

Remains Found.—The remains of Mr. Kelly Robinson, who, together with his wife and entire family, were drowned near Wheeling during the terrible storm which prevailed at that place a week ago last Sunday, have, it is said, been found floating in the Ohio river near Bellaire. There is but one of the family now missing, the bodies of the father, mother and four children having been found and identified. The missing child is a babe but a few months old.

Be Sure You are Right, Then Go Ahead. The above was the wise maxim of Col. Davy Crockett, but all persons do not follow it. On Wednesday, a man by the name of Connors, who lives further out, had his pocket-book arrested for stealing his money. It afterwards appeared that his wife had hid it to prevent it from being stolen. His haste and passion is a source of mortification to his daughter, and goes to prove the wisdom of sober second thought.

Corner Stone Laying.—Next Sunday, the Right Rev. Bishop Dominec will lay the corner stone of the new Catholic Church on Troy Hill, with appropriate ceremonies. On Sunday, September 2d, he will also consecrate the ceremonies of laying the corner stone of the Catholic Church at Alpsville, on the Youghiogheny river.

Judgment Entered.—Yesterday morning Judge McCandless, sitting in the United States District Court, ordered judgment to be entered in the case of the United States vs. T. C. Underhill, W. H. Dougherty and — Franklin.

The Pennsylvania Corn Crop.—It is estimated that the corn crop of Pennsylvania for the present year will amount to 30,000,000 bushels. There is not much danger of a famine at these rates.

Death from Cholera.—Armstrong P. Vernon, son of Reese C. Vernon, of Brownsville, died of cholera in St. Louis last Saturday.

Oil.—Business in oil is again reviving. It has been quite brisk during the past week.

Pittsburgh the Healthiest City in the Union—Only Eight Deaths Last Week.

Pittsburgh is a large city, densely populated. Some say it is the filthiest place in the Union. We will not enter into any argument upon the latt r assertion, but we are gratified to-day to be able to announce that, with all our smoke and filth, Pittsburgh is at the present time, without a single exception, the healthiest city in the Union. The interments for the week were only eight. There was not a single burial in either of the Catholic cemeteries. There were but three adults died—one over sixty years of age. Two infants and three children under ten years of age complete the number. This is a very remarkable report for a city, at this season of the year, and is justly attributed to the unusual care taken by the people to guard against disease, and the strict sanitary rules enforced by our Street Commissioners and the Board of Health. We are free as yet from the dread Asiatic pestilence which is fearfully decimating the cities surrounding us, and it is confidently hoped that we will escape altogether. Here is the report of the Physician to the Board of Health for the week ending August 18th. It is a most important document:

Mercy Hospital.

At a meeting of the attending physicians, held on the 21st instant, the following changes and additions were made to the medical staff: B. J. Campbell, M. D., was elected as an attending physician, and E. Donnelly, M. D., as surgeon.

The following resolutions were unanimously passed:

Resolved, That the Hospital shall be open to all classes of patients, irrespective of creed or color, and that all regular physicians and surgeons shall be privileged to send pay patients to private rooms, who may be treated as private patients by said physicians and surgeons.

Resolved, That all regular physicians and surgeons wishing to send pay patients, can do so by notifying any of the attending physicians or surgeons, except in urgent cases, when they can be taken immediately to the Hospital and admitted by the Sister Superior.

The following gentlemen constitute the medical staff for the year ending June 30th, 1867.

Thomas J. Gallaher, M. D., Silas N. Bellas, M. D., R. J. Cramblet, M. D., D. McNeal, Jr., M. D., E. Donnelly, M. D., Surgeon.

The Fire Alarm Telegraph.—Henry H. Hills, the agent for Gamewell, Leonard & Co., the parties who have contracted to erect the Fire Alarm Telegraph, arrived in the city yesterday, and it will be pushed with all speed at once, and the system will be in complete working order before the first of October. The delay occasioned by the non-arrival of the poles in this city, and the necessity of their being contracted for in the country, will be the principal cause of the delay. The contract for building the tower for the great bell will be awar

THE PLATFORMS.

Perhaps the maxim that cheek, for some purposes, is more valuable than brains, never received completer illustration than in a late issue of the New York Times, in a leader pretending to exhibit the coincidence between the Platform of the Republican National Convention which assembled at Baltimore in 1864, and nominated LINCOLN and JOHNSON, and the Platform of the late Philadelphia National Convention, composed mainly of rebels and copperheads, though embracing, by way of contrast, some men of undoubted loyalty, and who rendered most meritorious services during the war. The two Platforms are given entire, in parallel columns. Certain passages are brought out with great distinctness, by means of typical display; while other passages are comparatively obscured by being left in the insignificance of common letters. Strong assertions that the two Platforms are identical in substance and temper, finish the end contemplated—which is to show that President JOHNSON, by his Policy of Reconstruction, especially as embodied in this Philadelphia Platform, has maintained good faith with the men at whose hands he received power, and is still determined to redeem all his honorable pledges, expressed or implied in his acceptance of the Republican nomination for the Vice Presidency.

Among the passages of the Baltimore Platform, thus hidden in the commonality of small type, is one at the end of the first resolution. Observe how it appears when dignified and emboldened by small capitals:

"Resolved, That it is the highest duty of every American citizen to maintain against all their enemies the integrity of the Union, and the paramount authority of the Constitution and laws of the United States; and that laying aside all differences of public opinion, we pledge ourselves, as Union men, animated by a common sentiment, and aiming at a common object, to do everything in our power to aid the government in quelling, by force of arms, the rebellion now raising against its authority, AND IN BRINGING TO THE PUNISHMENT DUE TO THEIR CRIMES THE REBELS AND TRAITORS ARRAYED AGAINST IT."

The order of sequence here suggested is, first, the suppression of the rebellion, not by compromise or diplomatic arrangements, but by force of arms, and, then, the punishment of the rebels and traitors.

Now, recall the utterances of Mr. JOHNSON, made about the same time. "Treason is the highest crime known to the laws, and ought to be punished as such." "Treason must be made odious." "Traitors must take back seats." In employing these trenchant expressions, was he talking in opposition to the sentiments of loyal men throughout the nation? and was he accepted, notwithstanding this oppugnation, because of concurrence on other points, of still higher importance? No fair-minded man will urge either of these suppositions. Mr. JOHNSON was made Vice-President because he had expressed opinions in a bold and emphatic manner, which accorded fully with those of the Republicans, as held in their private thoughts, and as proclaimed in the Baltimore Platform cited above.

What rebel has ANDREW JOHNSON, since he became President, brought to punishment? He has, indeed, arrested and imprisoned Mr. JEFFERSON DAVIS; but this, not on a charge of treason. His proclamation for the arrest of that man charged him with complicity in the assassination of President LINCOLN. On that charge he was arrested, and has been held; and on none other. Thoughtful people, throughout the country, became satisfied, months ago, that no serious purpose was entertained of bringing him to trial upon the accusation under which he was arrested, and has been detained, on upon any other. He undergoes a luxurious captivity until a fit opportunity shall occur for his enlargement. No man has ever been punished for treason. The firm determination is that none shall be punished.

This is the animus that pervades the Philadelphia Platform. Is it conceivable that several hundred Southern men, most of whom had forfeited their lives to the laws, came from their distant home, at the mandate of the President, with shalters about their necks, and solemnly resolved they ought "to be brought to the punishment due to their crimes?" The editor of the Times was then acting a conspicuous part. Did he perceive any such disposition on the part of his Southern colleagues? Did he hear any such sounds in the resolutions to which they gave assent? He knows better. He is simply engaged in trying to deceive the public by pretending there is real agreement between the Platform he helped make at Philadelphia, and the Platform made at Baltimore.

The first plank of the Baltimore Platform, cited above, would no sooner have been re-affirmed by the Philadelphia Convention than by the Confederate Congress. But it does comport with the Congressional scheme of Reconstruction. They provides punishment for rebels—not harsh or sanguinary punishment, such as suits barbarian appetites, but mild and salutary punishment, such as really tends to "make treason odious," to "make rebels take back seats," and to confine the powers of government "to the hands of loyal men." It is punishment effectual, and yet more moderate than was ever inflicted by any government in laying anew the foundations of political society, shaken by a great and causeless revolt.

This demonstrates that the Congressional plan is in the interest of loyalty, while the Philadelphia scheme is in the interest of the rebels, and sympathizers with them.

THE DESPOTIC IDEA.

In France, soon after the revolution of 1848, which drove LOUIS PHILIPPE from the throne, LOUIS NAPOLEON BONAPARTE was elected President by universal suffrage, and by an immense majority. His political stock in trade, when he began, was the popularity of his uncle, the first NAPOLEON. Clothed with executive power, and with the combined force of the army and the treasury at his command, he at once determined to be the master and not the servant of the French people, and he succeeded. His next step was to change the republic into an empire; but that was more a matter of form than of substance; for, being Dictator, it was of little consequence whether that dictator was called President or Emperor.

As President and as Emperor he had "his policy," and the only duty that was left to the Legislature was to carry out that policy and give the form of law to his edicts. His imperious will was law. The press was shackled, and popular discussions upon public affairs interdicted. Thus France, so free, so jubilant, so democratic in 1848, found itself in 1851 bound hand and foot under one of the strongest systems of despotism the world ever saw. And so it lies this day.

ANDREW JOHNSON, who was not like NAPOLEON, elected to the highest office in the nation, but tossed into it by the arm of an assassin, is trying to play the same role. He talks imperiously about "my policy;" quarrels with Congress because it declines to imitate the servile example of the Legislative Chambers of France; undertakes to crush out the free spirit of the people by bringing the patronage of the government to bear upon the freedom of opinion; vapors largely about himself, and assumes to be the entire government. In this last particular he is more coarse and arrogant than NAPOLEON. JOHNSON is a vulgar tyrant; NAPOLEON is an accomplished one. JOHNSON is excessively blatant; NAPOLEON is silent. The whole world understands JOHNSON, and can measure him as easily as he could measure a customer while he was in his proper vocation and place; but that man is not living who understands NAPOLEON. In this difference we discover the weakness of the one and the strength of the other. Both are cold-hearted, cruel and vindictive; but while NAPOLEON has proved himself to be an overmatch for all France, JOHNSON, who is trying to follow in his foot steps, will only succeed in making himself troublesome and mischievous in keeping the country in turmoil, and in preventing for a time the restoration of the Union. One other thing he will succeed in most cordially, and that is in "making treason odious"—his own treason.

From the style in which the President talked the other day to a deputation of his servitors from the Philadelphia Convention about Congress—"a body that was hanging on the Covernment," and other contemptuous expressions—we infer that he is meditating a coup d'etat, after the fashion of his French exemplar; but we are very much mistaken if the result of the approaching elections does not cause even ANDREW JOHNSON to take a sober second thought—or at least a second thought, even it should not be sober. This is not a country where a despot can thrive or make much headway, although even here some are found base enough to cringe and fawn, in order that they may gather a few crumbs.

BUMBUG!

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The Republic of yesterday has the following, under the caption of "Let Us Organize":

"The National Union Party of Allegheny county has now a platform of principles and a carefully selected ticket."

Is there a man in this community so completely daft that he can be imposed upon by bosh of this description? The National Union party of Allegheny county, as such, has neither an existence, a platform or a ticket, and, outside of the Copperheads, would not muster a hundred men, all told. Indeed, so contemptible are they in point of numbers or influence that they had never held a county or city convention, and their only organ is the Bitter Republic, supported by levies on the faithful officeholders, and edited by the obsequious Sawyer. The ticket at the head of its own columns is not even called a National Union Ticket, but a Citizens' County Ticket. The Post, which supports the ticket, styles it a "Conservative DEMOCRATIC Ticket!"

As no candidate for Governor of Pennsylvania appears in the Republic, will that journal please state who is the candidate of the National Union Party for that office? Let us have at the same time the names and address of the members of that mysterious Johnson National Union Club of this county—whereof Sawyer is Chairman, Blackmore Treasurer, and the incorruptible Lowry Secretary? RADICAL.

The Philadelphia Resolutions.

THE Richmond Examiner says:

"Certain it is that some of the declarations made in those resolutions are what no generous man ought to have asked a Southern citizen to vote for; and what no Southern citizen could vote for, without grossly compromising the dignity of his State and outraging the sentiments of his people. It is one thing to submit—to abide a result—to covenant to do so with full purpose to keep the engagement honestly. It is another to justify and applaud the means which brought it about. How could the Convention, North or South, vote that "the war has maintained the authority of the Constitution," when the Convention was called together for the express purpose of endeavoring to restore the Consutition, now trampled under foot? How could Southern men thus sanction the constitutionality of the coercion of a State? How could our delegates "unanimously and enthusiastically" vote to repudiate the Confederate debt! And especially how could they thus join in "recognizing the services" of the Federal armies, and the obligation of the robbed and penniless widows and orphans of our own dear martyred, murdered heroes, to pay some "debt" as justly due by them to those who made them so? Our people submit to the violence that has beggared them, and to the military force that has put the noblest and best of our sons beneath the sod; but they will never so dishonor the graves of our heroes, as "enthusiastically" to applaud such utterances as we have referred to. The North might well adopt such declarations, and we should not quarrel with them for it, but enough, a thousand times enough, that the South should be silent amid the denunciations of her cause, and the exultations over her defeat."

Yet the Examiner says it shall co-operate with those who formed the Philadelphia Convention. That way runs the only road that can possibly lead the rebel chiefs back to power.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Lavery, residing at 341 Lydius street, Albany, retired on Thursday night, leaving an infant boy in his cradle near the bed. During the night the mother was awakened by a feeble cry from the little one in the crib, and on taking him up felt that his night clothes were soaking wet. She struck a light, when to her horror she discovered that the clothes were covered with blood, and on further examination found that one of the arms of the child had been gnawed to the bone by a rat, and that a hole was eaten through one of his hands.

—Once more the Fenian bugbear is exciting and alarming the good folks of Canada. A second Fenian invasion of prodigious proportions is expected to take place in a few days. Current rumor fixes the number of invaders at twenty thousand, and the public press gives credence and voice to the report. The speedy calling out of the volunteer force is anticipated. Permits are given by the authorities to all respectable citizens to buy and wear arms, and the sellers of revolvers are reaping a fine harvest.

United States District Court.

A very important decision was rendered yesterday morning in the United States District Court by Hon. Wilson McCandless, Judge of the Court. The case was that of the United States vs. Jacob Hays, whose distillery was seized over a year ago on account of improper returns having been made under the Internal Revenue Law. After the seizure of the distillery, and the filing of the libel, the proprietor died and the question at issue was whether his death was not a sufficient reason for the abatement of the writ. The question was argued on the 17th inst. by S. A. Purviance, Esq., on the part of the claimants of the distillery, and by E. B. Carnahan, for the United States. The Court delivered the following opinions in the case:

"As the pleadings and proofs in this case exhibit a palpable evasion and violation of the Internal Revenue laws, the only question raised at the argument was, whether the death of Jacob Hays, since the seizure and libel, abates the writ.

"The act of Congress provides that to enforce a forfeiture the proceedings should be in rem. The process is not so much against the party as the offending property. Like the deodant of the ancient English law, the guilty chattel, which was the instrument in the commission of the offence, was forfeited to the king. All the legal measures taken, are after the practice of a Court of Admiralty, and the definitive sentence and decree of the Court is levied at the thing seized, the same as if it was a vessel navigating the western waters or the high seas. The sixty-eighth section of the act of '64 declares that for such neglect the owner shall forfeit not only the spirits made by him, but all the vessels, stills, boilers, &c., used by him in the distillation, together with a penalty of five hundred dollars. And further, that the proceedings to enforce the forfeiture of said property, shall be in the nature of a proceeding in rem, in the Circuit or District Court of the United States. The death of the party, therefore, cannot impair or loosen the hold which the officers of the government have upon the property seized. It remains intact, and, in the language of the act, is to be "held until a decision shall be had thereon according to law."

"Independent of this, the case of Penhallow vs. Doane's Administrators, 3 Dallas 118 rules the point. The Supreme Court of the United States there say that a suit in rem does not abate by the death of the party. The opinion of the Court is with the United States, and a decree is ordered according to the prayer of the libel.

A Distinguished Visitor.

Major General Coolbaugh, an officer of the South American army, is at present spending a few weeks at Phillipsburg, Beaver county. General Coolbaugh was educated at West Point, was an officer in our regular army, and served for some time on the staff of General McPherson. Resigning his commission in 1861, he left for South America, and immediately connecting himself with the army of that country, he has risen to the rank of a Major General in its service. His mission to this vicinity at the present time is to provide artillery for his adopted country; and we believe that the Fort Pitt Works at Pittsburgh are now completing several pieces of cannon for him, which he designs taking with him on his return to South America. He was formerly a resident of this State, and we think in 1836 his father was one of the Canal Commissioners of Pennsylvania. His lady is with him at Phillipsburg at the present time, and both return in a few days to their distant home.

Attempted Rape.

A few days since a negro named Charles Smith attempted to rape the person of a white girl, named Elizabeth McCullough, at the house of Mr. C. Blackburn, Coleraine township, near Lancaster. Both parties are employed in Mr. Blackburn's family as domestics. Mr. B. and family being absent from home the negro caught the girl on the porch, and after a severe struggle she succeeded in making her escape up stairs, having her clothing almost torn to pieces. Complaint was made before Squire Heylberger, when the negro was arrested and in default of bail was committed to the county prison for trial. While officer Shellenberger was conveying him to prison he made his escape at the Green Tree. A reward of $10 is offered for his arrest.

Sad Occurrence.

On Friday two weeks ago, Mr. Milo Barnes, of Freedom, Beaver county, went from his home to Island Run, to assist in re-arranging the machinery of an oil well, in which he was interested. While at work about the well a heavy stream of gas ascended from it, which, coming in contact with the furnace, caused an explosion. Mr. Barnes being within its area was badly burned on the back, arms and face. He continued in great agony until Thursday last, when death ended his sufferings. He was about forty years of age, and leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss.

Abating Nuisances.—The Cincinnati Council, at a special meeting held a few days since, prohibited the further cleaning of privies for the present, as prejudicial to the public health. Would it not be a good movement to do the same thing here? If this business was attended to during the months of November, December, January, February, March and April, we think there would be less complaint than there is at present.

Getting Worse.—Annie Bell, the little girl who was so severely burned on Wednesday, while attempting to light a candle at a stove, in doing which her clothing caught fire, was sinking rapidly last evening, and it was thought she could not recover.

The Excise Law.—Beadle's Digest edition of the National Tax Law as amended to July 20th, 1866, has been issued and can be had at W. A. Gildenfenney's, 45 Fifth street.

Drowned.—John Knott, a boy sixteen years of age, son of Henry Knott, Esq., of Lancaster, was drowned while bathing in Conestoga creek on Tuesday.

Special Caution.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has become so popular that various parties have put out articles calling them Mrs. Winslow's. Please take notice that the Mr. Winslow of the Soothing Syrup is not connected with any other article. jy11-d&w

NEW YORK, August 23.—The following cable dispatches are additional to those received last night:

BERLIN, PRUSSIA, August 21.—The cabinet policy asserts that the hostile attitude maintained towards the government of the King of Prussia, by the Kingdom of Hanover, the people of the territory of the Electoral Hesse, Nassau, and the late free city of Frankfort, has determined the Prussian Executive to at once destroy their independence and annex them to the Kingdom of Prussia.

MUNICH, BAVARIA, August 21.—The Prussian Government has officially promised to the Bavarian Cabinet an early and definite settlement and adjustment of the political and commercial relations of the kingdom, disturbed by the late war. The commercial affairs will be regulated according to the German Soll-vereln, which will be established in the territory. Bavaria, after having contemplated an armed resistance on her own account to the Prussian authority, had submitted to the demands of that Government. Prussia asks merely, she says, possession of the districts of Lichtenfels and Carlihof.

VIENNA, HANOVER, Aug. 21.—King George, of Hanover, who is at present in this city, has been formally advised that the King and Government of Prussia demand the abdication of his crown. The aged and blind wild exiled man is willing to take the step, but declares it to be in favor of his son. The Queen of Hanover is using every effort which she can employ with the view of securing the succession to her son, but Prussia gives her no assurance.

The cholera is making sad ravages at Brunn, Pesth and Nikatsberg, and also among the wounded soldiers in this city.

DRESDEN, SAXONY, Aug. 21.—All the members of the Saxon Cabinet sent in their resignations to-day. The king has accepted only the resignation of Baron Beush.

LONDON, ENGLAND, August 21.—The Emperor Napoleon has assured the Government and Cabinet of England that France will not demand the fortresses of Marienburg and Philippeville from Belgium in the event of the territorial changes on the continent of Europe.

FLORENCE, ITALY, August 21.—General La Marmora has been removed from his position as Chief of the Staff of King Victor Emanuel. General Cialdini succeeds him. La Marmora has not been in favor with the people since the period of the defeat of the Italian army at Custozza. During the invasion of Venetia was determined on, the plans submitted for adoption were dictated in a council of war, La Marmora advocated a direct advance on the fortresses of the quadrilateral. Cialdini advising a march so as to avoid them. La Marmora's counsels prevailed, and the result is known. Cialdini's counsels were made from Sheet Cast Steel. All descriptions of Government Bonds bought and sold on liberal terms.

London and Continental Exchange sold at New York rates.

Gold, Silver and Coupons bought at highest rates, and Gold Drafts issued on New York.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

THURSDAY, August 22, 1866.

The New York stock quotations to-day were as follows: Gold, 150½; 1881 bonds 111½; 5-20s, old, 110; 5-20s, new, 108; 10-40s, 103½; 7-30s, 106⅝. Michigan Southern Railroad, 85½; Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad, 89½; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad, 104½; Erie Railroad, 73½; Western Union Telegraph Company, 56; Chicago & Rock Island,—.

The premium on gold was run up to-day in New York to 150¾—"shorts" are obliged to buy at any price, or submit to a daily shave of from ⅛ to ¼ per cent., according to the demand. The Treasury has a large surplus of gold, but in the face of the unfavorable condition of the English money market, the government would only strengthen the English Banks, by selling, as was the case last May, and thus delay the time for the resumption of specie payments.

Government bonds are again lower; 1881s, have declined ¼, old 5-20s, ¼; new ditto, ⅝. Ten Forties are steady at former quotations, since the half yearly interest is payable within a few days, and are on that account more valuable.

The heavy disbursements by the government have not had the desired effect on the money market. There is a better demand for money for legitimate business, and part of the funds have to come from the National Bank and Government Depositories.

—It is insinuated in some quarters at the North that the Secretary of the does not consider the government to bound redeem its Five Twenty securities in coin, and that he will govern himself by the strict letter of the law, and pay only the interest in specie. But there is no reason to belive that Mr. McCulloch entertains any such views from anything he has said on the subject. On the contrary it has been stated that he has lately given unqualified assurances that he holds to the opinion of Mr. Chase, under whose administration the bonds were issued, and who has declared that it has always been the custom of the department to redeem all coupon and registered bonds forming part of the United funded or permanent debt. The averment of Mr. Chase stated in part, is conclusive, and was received at the time as conclusive, and by all the more intelligent holders is considered as having put the bonds beyond question; and removing all doubt on the question; and there is now no good reason that we are aware of to regard it as an open one.

—The Boston Bulletin, of the 18th, has the following on the "finest" of that market:

"The fancy stock market is not just now very fruitful in sensations. The various cliques are somewhat quiet. An analysis of the various combinations has developed nothing in the street operations to lead and mhing the street operations to lead anything except the fact that the capital and experience from New York and Providence are still actively at work in our locality. A heavy New York movement has furnished a large amount of "money" to the most famous copper ring, and solid men from Rhode Island are as deeply in the superfine companies as they have ever been in the Lands. The copper market has been less active this week, and those parties who went in last week upon the strength of John's assertions, that everything was going up, are already showing signs of anxiety."

—The issue of national bank notes during last week was $888,573, making the aggregate issue $288,401,775. No new national banks were organized during the week. The securities held by Treasurer Spinner as security for national banks are as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| As security for circulating notes | $329,673,700 |
| As security for public deposits in designated depositories | 38,455,500 |
| Total | 368,129,200 |

—The following shows the exports (exclusive of specie) from New York to foreign ports for the week ending August 21, and since January 1:

| | 1864. | 1865. | 1866. |
|---|---|---|---|
| For the week | $1,369,873 | $3,298,832 | $2,186,421 |
| Prev. reported | 123,959,687 | 98,722,435 | 125,019,079 |
| Since Jan. 1 | 125,264,560 | 102,028,075 | 127,501,500 |
| Price of gold | 257 | 144 | 150 |

—The following is a comparative table showing the total shipment of manufactured goods from England to the United States, for the first six months of 1866:

| | 1864. | 1865. | 1866. |
|---|---|---|---|
| Cotton fabrics | 47,938,860 | 24,292,217 | 62,987,098 |
| Woolen " | 4,661,153 | 1,119,283 | 3,144,263 |
| Worsted " | 33,520,440 | 21,200,696 | 36,098,342 |
| Carpets " | 1,384,569 | 46,883 | 2,534,982 |
| Shawls & Rugs | 164,355 | 35,991 | 56,886 |

It will be seen that the six month's business shows a very large general gain on both the preceding years.

CATTLE.

The receipts of cattle were again unusually large this week, the pens being full and almost overflowing, and, with only a moderate demand, the market was not as brisk as it might have been, and was so regarded by holders. The quality of the offerings, generally speaking, was very inferior, consisting mostly of common cows and steers and rough oxen and bulls, and as a matter of course, under these circumstances, good cattle sold without much difficulty at prices, while the common grades changed hands very slowly and only at low figures. Some few droves of good to prime steers sold at from 9 to 9½c, drove bringing 9¾c, while quite a sale at from 7 to 7½ @ 8½c according to quality and condition, while medium cows and steers may be quoted at from 7 to 7½. The demand for shipment to Philadelphia and New York was hardly as brisk as last week, some of the shippers, it is alleged, having lost heavily, which for a short time at least, will cause them to make them very careful in their operations.

SHEEP.

The receipts of Sheep were remarkably heavy this week, being estimated at from fifteen to eighteen thousand head, and the market, consequently, was a pretty hard one for holders, and especially for those of the common and inferior grades. Quotations may be fairly given at 4½ to 5¼ cents per lb, gross. Some few droves were sold on foot, one of which was reported at 5¾, said to have been a very good bunch of Sheep. No operations in Lambs, at least there were none reported.

SWINE.

This class of stock is reported steady with a fair shipping demand, and with a limited supply and light arrivals, the market may be quoted firm at about last week's prices, 10½ to 11 cents, for fair to good averages—heavy averaging over three hundred pounds, brought 11¾.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, August 23, 1866.

CRUDE—The market for bonded oil, in very quiet, nets a single sale reported to-day, and but two yesterday. The demand seems to have nothing of somewhat, and with favorable indications of another rise in the Allegheny, holders are more anxious to realize, and it is said that offers were plenty to-day at 16 cents, on the first water, without meeting with any response. That some of our refiners will soon be obliged to purchase, is generally conceded, but they seem determined to hold off as long as possible, hoping that by so doing they will be enabled to buy at a reduction. Quotations are nominal at 16, bbls returned, and 21, bbls included, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market. We have no late advices from Oil City.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil, in sympathy with Crude, continues quiet, and while the demand is light, there is but very little offering to sell either for present or future delivery. We can report sales of 200 bbls on the spot, on private terms, supposed to be at 37½@38c for old light straw to white, on private terms, supposed to be at 37 cents, an extreme price for any quality of oil, and 400 bbls for September delivery in Philadelphia, at 44. For immediate delivery in Philadelphia, 44 is offered; 44¼ for October, 45 asked; and it is said that December is offering pretty freely at 46. We are cognizant of a sale of 1000 bbls on the spot, in Philadelphia, on Wednesday, at 43½. No movement in free oil.

ARRIVALS—The arrivals of oil continue very meagre. The following were reported to-day:

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Money and Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The demand for Money was less active to-day, and the market was easier. Call Loans ranged generally from 4 to 5 per cent., but some of the government bankers are still getting all the money they want at 3 per cent. The Gold market opened 151 at one time this afternoon, but afterwards receded to 150¾, and then recovered again to 150¾. The present corner in cash gold is the most severe one ever known in this gold room, as may be judged from the fact that just previous to the close of delivery hours, 1 per cent. was paid for the use of it until to-morrow. The Foreign Exchange market is extremely dull. Government Securities were in better demand towards the close of the day, and there was a general improvement from the lowest point. The following were the closing prices: 5-20s of 1865, 107¾@108; 10-40 Coupons, 105¾@106¾; 7-30's, 106¾@106. The greatest advance has been in Erie, Illinois Central, Rock Island, and Pittsburgh. Michigan Southern is very firm, and is being absorbed by strong parties. After the last call there was considerable excitement on Erie in the long room, and the price advanced to 74¾. The balance of the market was firm and without much change. The bull interest is in the ascendant once more, and the tendency of prices is upwards.

The disbursements in future by the Treasury Department will no doubt tend to further stimulate the speculative tendencies for a rise. Petroleum stocks—Pit Hole Creek, 175, Shade River, 11 30, 27; United States, 780. Mining stocks—Gunnell Gold, 2 3, 110; Liebeg, 60; Montauns, 3—.

The Commercial's money article says: The stock markets to-day exhibited more strength. It was generally higher. Governments were weaker. The money market is without material change. The demand for large loans for the purchase of gold has temporarily checked the downward tendency apparent, but out of the disbursements, on account of the temporary loan, and a good deal of money is lent at 6 per cent. First class borrowers, however, can get all they want at 5 per cent. Discounts show a steady increase of activity, with rather more firmness in rates. Extreme rates for prime bills are 9@9½ per cent. Transactions in foreign exchange are checked by the unsettled condition of the gold market, and rates are still weak. Importers hold off from remitting in expectation of a decline in gold premium. Good bankers sixty days' sterling bills are negotiated at 108½@107; but for prime names the rate is 107@107¼. The gold market shows a continued firmness. The bull clique appear to have the market completely in their hands, as their refusal to lend is enabling other holders to get ¾@⅞ per cent. per day upon loans. It is the boast of the bull clique that they can run up the premium.

The Post's money article says: Gold is excited and scarce, ¼ to 1 per cent. having been paid for loans. The selling price has been as high as 150¾. The loan market is fairly active at 5 per cent., with some transactions at 6. The flow of currency to the West continues and has a tendency to diminishing the activity in money. Discount continues to be limited, but is gradually increasing, good bills passing at 5@6½. The stock market is dull. Governments are over. Railroad shares are strong. Illinois Central, Reading, Rock Island and North Western attracting chief attention. Before the first regular session Erie was quoted at 73¾; Michigan Southern, 85½; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 87¾. After the Board the market was firm for Railroad shares and dull for Governments. At 1 p. m. the market was strong, Gold being strong, Governments irregular, Gold being strong, Governments steady, and Railroad shares inactive but firm. Foreign Exchange is drooping and inactive; bills at sixty days on London are quoted at 109½@109¾; for commercial, and 107@107¾ for bankers'; and short 109@109¾.

At last open board to-day the following were the principal sales: New York Central, extra div., 103¾; Erie, 72¾; Western Union Telegraph, 56; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 88¾; Illinois Central, extra div., 123½; Chicago and Rock Island, 109½; Pittsburgh, 108½; Chicago and Northwestern, 36½; do preferred, 67½; Michigan Southern, 85½; do extra div., 42; do 2d preferred, extra div., 21. Gold closed at 150¾. Governments are better. The demand for money is less active, and the market is easier.
